AS TO THE VOLSTEAD LAW.

Those engaged in the hazardous occupation of dealing in intoxicating liquors, and who think that the prosecution of all violations of the Volstead act has been turned over to the county court, will be interested in the following explanation of the law. Only those cases that can be successfully prosecuted under the state laws are brought into the superior court, and Judge Sawtelle's statement that the county courts had concurrent jurisdiction with the United States courts, undoubtedly referred to selling and manufacturing, and not to the possession, transportation, and possession of property designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, which must be prosecuted under the United States statute. The espionage act, under which authority for search warrants are given, says: "No search warrant shall issue to search any private dwelling occupied as such unless it is being used for unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, or unless it is in part used for some business purpose such as store, shop, saloon, restaurant, hotel or boarding house."—Silver Belt.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH.

A crowded house greeted the singers at the Methodist church Sunday night. The Oratorio, "The Daughter of Jairus," by Sir John Stainer, under the direction of Mr. G. W. Forman was exceptionally well rendered throughout, there being perfect harmony and continuity of phrasing leading up to the final climax from the beginning number to the last hallelujah chorus.

The accompanist Miss Nell Wilson was supported by the orchestra composed of Miss Gwendolyn Noon, violin, and Mr. Claude Frazier, Mr. E. R. Purdum, saxophones.

The first number consisted of a female and male choruses responding to other in varied strains. Following this was a recitative by Miss Marta Nesbit, soprano, and Mr. Paulus, basso, setting forth the announcement of the sickness of the daughter and a plea for her restoration. Mr. Forman followed with a tenor solo of considerable length setting forth hope in "The Everlasting, Our Savior."

The next number, "Sweet Tender Flower," by the Women's Chorus, was introduced by Miss Lucilla Pinkerton, soprano, entitled, "The Wailing." Following this Mrs. Wilson soprano, sang a plaintive minor solo introducing the Male Chorus of "Doubt." After this, Mrs. L. Hudgin, soprano, prepared the way for the Chorus, "Awake, Thou That Sleepest" by a beautiful high solo.

The climax was reached in the duet "Love Divine," soprano and tenor, rendered by Mrs. Hudgin and Mr. Forman, which received special commendation by the large audience for its richness of tones, beautiful harmony and the close blending of their voices. The closing number was the Hallelujah Chorus and Amen given by the entire choir in full voice, each part carrying its own melody in counterpoint and contrary motion, producing a fitting climax for all which had gone before.

Mr. Forman and his choir deserve much credit for giving the music lovers of Nogales such a treat, and it is hoped this will be the last presentation of such high class music.—Democrat.

WHY ARE MEN IDLE?

You know what "tax exempt" securities are? They are state and municipal bonds issued to the tune of tens of thousands of millions. They pay the investor as high as six per cent interest and more, and the owner pays not a cent of income tax on these investments.

Naturally men prefer those exempt bonds, paying no income tax of other tax, bearing no risk, to any investment in industry. No wonder an expert tells you, "more money is invested in tax exempt securities than in the nation's business."

This explains why so many factories are closed, so many men out of work in America. Why should a man risk his capital hiring men in industry, to make 10 or 15 per cent profit, and give half or three quarters of it back to the government in income tax, when he can buy perfectly safe bonds, draw his 5 or 6 per cent until the tax storm blows over, and pay the government not one cent?

BLACK EAGLE BUSY.

The incline shaft at the Black Eagle mine, under the direction of Mike Hogan is getting into the high grade rapidly. The shaft is down over 100 feet and ore taken out is being shipped practically as it comes from the development work, without sorting. Two cars of ore from this property left on Tuesday's freight train for the smelter.

In addition to H. H. McCutchan and Frank Wilson, Charles E. Mead is busy hauling ore from the Black Eagle, which promises quick returns for the lessees, McCutchan & Hogan.—Patagonian.

ARE YOU AN AMERICAN?

Are you proud of our country? Are you proud of American achievements? Listen.

There is no greater national institution than the American railway system, run by railroad men.

The West has been built by the transcontinental railroads.

A little over a hundred years ago all the country west of the Mississippi river belonged to France, Spain and No Man.

Even in 1850 there were less than 100,000 people in this territory. Today there are 10,000,000. Shacks have become skyscrapers. The desert has been made to bloom. Western industries serve the world.

It was Lincoln who urged the construction of transcontinental railroads. He insisted that the government help to build "not only as a military necessity"— as General Dodge had said—"but as a means of holding the Pacific Coast to the Union."

From this ideal of a United Republic came the name of the Union Pacific.

Since the completion of the road, 53 years ago, the West has won prosperity. The states have won solidity. The railroads have won the public's gratitude.

Today the nationalized transcontinental railroads unite the East and West—boulevards of steel for passengers and freight.

PHOENIX TO MEXICO CITY.

Phoenix, April.—Present prospects favor a direct railway line from Phoenix to Mexico City, according to H. B. Titcomb, president of the Arizona Eastern and Southern Pacific de Mexico railroads, who arrived in the city yesterday to attend the Industrial Congress conference.

When this connecting link is completed Phoenix will be brought more than 500 miles closer to Mexico City by railroad and will be offered the facilities of through Pullman cars without change, declared Mr. Titcomb.

This stretch of railroad which will bring Phoenix into close touch with the capital of a nation just beginning to realize the possibilities of its undeveloped wealth is being planned from Tepic to La Quemada. It will connect the terminus of the present Southern Pacific de Mexico line with a main line road into Mexico City.

TO GRADUATE NURSES.

All graduate nurses in Arizona are asked to note that the waiver will expire June 9, 1922.

State registration will soon be compulsory and no nurse can be registered under the provisions of said waiver whose application is not filed before the above date. The examining board will only hold one more meeting before this time. Application forms and information will be furnished by the secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Russell, State House, Phoenix, Arizona.

Pacific Homestead: Our state taxes and most county and district taxes can be cut 25 per cent if the people demand it and send the right men to the state legislature and to state and county offices. It will mean a hard fight, because each cut in costs, whether it affects a salary, or some institution or commission will experience bitter opposition from the people affected, and from a large class of followers. But it has got to be done, and the result will be of vast benefit to the state.

Tucson, April.—Completion of the most effective slacker drive during the past two years in Arizona was announced Friday, information reaching Tucson being to the effect that Department of Justice Agent Jack Noonan, assisted by Sheriff Skaggs, of Greenlee county, has within the past two days taken to military authorities at Douglas, eleven prisoners on this charge.
